

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Radiall Awarded 2025 Gulfstream Supplier of the Year

March 2026 – Radiall, a global leader in interconnect solutions, has been recognized by Gulfstream Aerospace as a 2025 Supplier of the Year in the Connector/Interconnect category. This distinction recognizes suppliers that demonstrate exceptional performance and partnership across Gulfstream’s global supply chain.

Radiall received the award based on superior performance ratings in engineering, quality, reliability, delivery and customer support. Each year, Gulfstream evaluates its suppliers across these key performance areas to identify partners who consistently meet their high standards while supporting the company’s commitment to innovation, operational excellence and customer satisfaction.

Delivering Excellence in Aerospace Connectivity

Presented by category, the Supplier of the Year awards recognize organizations that meet Gulfstream’s highest standards of performance and partnership. Radiall’s recognition in the Connector/Interconnect category reflects its ability to deliver advanced connectivity solutions that support critical aerospace systems and help ensure reliable performance in demanding operating environments.

This award highlights Radiall’s commitment to quality, operational excellence and dependable customer support—demonstrated through the team’s daily management of the VMI forecast to keep inventory within required minimum and maximum levels, a key factor in the success of this account.

By meeting Gulfstream’s stringent expectations across engineering, manufacturing, and customer support, Radiall continues to demonstrate its dedication to helping aerospace manufacturers develop and produce next-generation aircraft while maintaining the highest levels of reliability and performance.
